DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-12, drawn to a method for determining the risk for calcification of arteries and other tissues in mammals;
- II. Claims 13-21, drawn to a method of screening for an agent that reduces or ameliorates one or more symptoms of the calcification of arteries and other soft tissues;
- III. Claims 22-31, drawn to a method of monitoring the efficacy of a treatment for one or more symptoms of calcification of arteries and other soft tissues in a mammal;
- IV. Claims 33-43 drawn to a method for determining the risk for atherosclerosis in a mammal;;
- V. Claims 44-54, drawn a method of monitoring the efficacy of treatment for atherosclerosis;
- VI. Claims 55-64 drawn to a method for determining the risk for osteoporosis in a mammal; and
- VII. Claims 65-75 drawn to a method of monitoring the efficacy of a treatment of osteoporosis.

Art Unit: 1617

Inventions of Groups I-VII are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different functions and different effects. The invention in Group II relates to a method of screening for compounds which would require a different effect than that of monitoring the effectiveness of treatment of the various diseases claimed. Each of Groups I and III-VII are unrelated since they are drawn to the treatment of separate and distinct diseases each having its own etiology for monitoring the disease and determining the risk thereof. In other words the mode of operation in determining the risk and efficiency of the treatment requires different considerations. A search of the pharmaceutical literature would be an undue burden on the examiner. Further, each of the above inventions have acquired a separate status in the pharmaceutical art. The method for determining the risk of calcification of an artery differs from that of determining the risk of osteoporosis since one involves blood vessels and the other involves bone.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

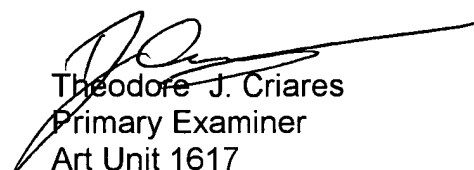

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
